

Directors and Officers Insurance

Directors and Officers Liability Insurance has become a much more common item even on nonprofit agendas for the simple reason that more organizations are getting sued.

Suits are brought in response to actions and decisions made by management – including, but not limited to, the board of directors or trustees. Common areas of dispute revolve around hiring and firing decisions, employee supervision, the application of assets, and interpretations of nonprofit charters. In short, almost any day-to-day decision or action by anyone in your organization can trigger a lawsuit that could not only hurt your organization financially, but might also threaten your personal assets and those of your trustees and executives.

Agency Marketing Services can help you place a variety of for profit and nonprofit risks. Brokering business is what we do and we have access to numerous "A" rated admitted and non-admitted markets.
